

EMERGENCY MEDICINE FELLOWSHIP

PARKVIEW HOSPITAL RANDALLIA

A 41-bed urban setting emergency department with a proactive approach to providing continued health and psychiatric care access to the surrounding community.

PARKVIEW REGIONAL MEDICAL CENTER

A new state-of-the-art tertiary care referral and Level II trauma center with a 48-bed emergency department including a Fast Track and Clinical Decision Unit providing high quality care.

ABOUT OUR FELLOWSHIP

This is a 12-month fellowship to help prepare graduates for work in rural or suburban emergency departments. Available to Board-certified/Board-eligible family practice physicians, the PEP fellowship will involve hands-on training at an urban community-based hospital and a tertiary care referral/Level II Trauma center. The paid fellowship will consist of rotating shifts in the ED combined with focused ED classroom study, intensive critical care and trauma with Adult and Pediatric Intensive Care specialists and the Trauma Service.

CURRICULUM

ATLS certification will be provided as well as rigorous airway management and critical procedure skills training. An emphasis in the emergency medicine aspects of trauma and medical care, risk management, ultrasound use, and toxicology will be seen during the weekly Tuesday morning didactics with ongoing Board Review sessions combined with Core Content lecture series. This training is geared toward refining emergency medicine skills and making the physician better prepared to work in an urban or suburban hospital Emergency Department.

COMPENSATION

Two positions are offered yearly with a $75,000 stipend per year. Full benefits are offered including liability insurance, disability insurance, and health insurance.
